

SWISS suspends two services to Cairo until further notice

As a result of the sharp drop in demand, SWISS has decided to suspend two of the six-weekly connections between Zurich and Cairo. This decision becomes effective on March 20, 2003.

The services suspended are those of Monday and Thursday. The remaining four flights (Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday) will adhere to the published timetable.

The SWISS Task Force will continue to monitor the developments in the Near and Middle East
